

Faculty International Travel 2017-2018

Faculty International Travel (FIT) awards provide partial support for travel to destinations outside the 50 United States for faculty to participate in professional meetings, give performances, or hold exhibitions. This award is intended for individuals who are giving research presentations, exhibitions, or performances of major significance in an international context or who are contributing in important official capacities to meetings/forums of international significance.

The maximum award an applicant can receive from the FIT program is $2,000. It is expected that the total cost of the travel will be shared between the home unit (department/division/school) and the FIT grant funds. Support is available for lowest round trip airfare and other additional expenses related to the travel such as local transportation costs, hotel costs, and meals. Conference and registration fees are not covered by this program.

FIT funding will not be provided for travel to conferences or other venues organized and/or offered exclusively by for-profit entities. Invitations for departmental presentations at international institutions alone are not sufficient for funding under the FIT program, but they may be included as part of a valid international travel request.

Eligibility

1. Tenured, tenure-track, and ranked non-tenure track faculty at the level of Assistant Professor and above.
2. Emeritus faculty can apply if they are currently employees of the University and will continue to be an employee for a minimum of one-year following the completion of a funded award.
3. There is a limit of one award to an individual within any 24-month period. An applicant can submit a new application for an event occurring 24 months after the previously awarded meeting, performance, or exhibition.
4. The University expects the applicant to remain a University employee for a minimum of one-year following completion of a funded award.

Criteria Used To Evaluate Applications

Generally, awards are made to individuals who are giving presentations, exhibitions, or performances of major significance in an international context or who are involved in important official capacities in meetings of international significance. Presentations of posters are generally accorded a lower priority than papers, lectures, or readings. Therefore, for poster presentations, it is particularly incumbent on the applicant to make clear a high level of selectivity for participation and a high degree of visibility at the conference. Exhibitions and performances at highly visible events or venues with high professional impact for the faculty member and for MU will be given preference.

1. Nature of Participation. Is the presentation, paper, exhibit, or performance invited or refereed? If no presentation is being made, does the nature of the applicant's participation clearly benefit their career and MU? Is there evidence of a high level of selectivity?
2. Importance to Applicant's Career and/or Field. Is attendance at the meeting important to applicant's career or field? Is there evidence that the applicant's participation will have a significant benefit for MU?
3. International Scope and Significance. Is there evidence that the meeting or forum is international in scope and is a major international gathering in this field?
4. Budget Justification & Previous Funding. Does the applicant have funding from their home unit? Has the applicant obtained previous funding from the FIT Fund or other internal travel programs?
