

The Science of Addiction Symposium

Thursday, December 6, 2018

8:00 a.m.–5:00 p.m.

University of Missouri

Christopher S. Bond Life Sciences Center

To ignite a comprehensive conversation about the grand challenge of addiction, the University of Missouri will host The Science of Addiction Symposium featuring keynote speakers of national prominence, as well as thought leaders from a range of disciplines across the University of Missouri.

By addressing addiction from the perspectives of research, teaching, and practice, The Science of Addiction Symposium will:

- Highlight current investigations into the problem of addiction, from etiology to genetics to treatment and beyond
- Facilitate breakthroughs and collaborations on approaches, insights, and challenges
- Energize broad commitments and bold steps toward a nationally recognized Center of Excellence
